

To Whom It May Concern.

I would like the right and freedom to be able to purchase my homeopathic medicine over the counter or online. As someone who suffers sever endometriosis I find that complimentary homeopathic medicine helps with my condition, otherwise I would be on pain medication as well as continuous antibiotics for my continuous bladder infections. My naturopath knows what I am on and only prescribes or recommends medication that does not affect what I am on. I have never had any problems with taking homeopathic medicine and find it compliments my hormone therapy.

It enables me to be a productive member of society and not be on continuous pain medicine to help with the pain.

I would like to keep on having that choice. I have been put in the "too hard basket" by doctors so can at least help myself using homeopathic medicine to keep my life as normal as possible.

Regards
