

To the TGA

This note is to request that the TGA please leave the availability of homeopathic medicines in Australia as it currently is.

We are meant to live in a free and open society in Australia but it seems personal choices and freedoms are being constantly questioned and often removed.

The right for citizens to choose to use homeopathy is important and necessary. Unlike allopathic medicines, homeopathy cannot harm anyone so therefore, it goes without saying that the TGA has no right to change the way homeopathy is available in Australia.

Any of the other options in the currently consultation process are unacceptable. Option 1: leave homeopathy as it currently is, is the right and only choice.
