Dear TGA,

I'm writing to strongly support the use of homeopathic medicine in Australia and to ensure that you have no say in what naturally based products we decide are right for our own families consumption. I strongly disagree with options 3 & 4 and support option 1 (one) such that no changes be made to its classification.

People are more than capable of deciding if and when they are required and government really has no right to interfere. Government should stop mandatory/forced medications and leave people to decide what natural products they ingest.

Thanking you,
