Dear Sir,

Regarding the use of homeopathic medicine, I would like to state that I have personally had very positive experience with homeopathic treatment for a musculo-skeletal condition called deupetrons syndrome, where tendon sheaths were contracting in my hand. This can be a debilitating disease.

A series of simple treatments from my homeopathic practitioner caused the condition to go into remission. This meant that I did not have to undergo surgery on my hand, which is proven to be a non-permanent solution to the condition. The homeopathic intervention not only saved my from this invasive surgery but saved the public considerable funds for the process.

I strongly support enabling homeopathy as a treatment option in our medical system.

Thank you for your consideration,
