

Re: TGA Homeopathy Regulation

Dear Sir / Madam,

I understand that the TGA is asking for submissions on regulatory options for Homeopathy.

I support option 4 declaring homeopathic products not to be therapeutic goods.

I do so because there is no reputable study, ever, that has supported the claim of homeopathy to have any effect beyond that of a placebo.

I also do so because people who are misinformed may believe homeopathy to be a genuine cure for their ailments and so reject accredited proven remedies with the end result that their condition may worsen, even significantly, before (if ever) they seek and receive proper treatment.

Homeopathy and other pseudoscientific methods have no place in a modern, evidence-based system of care. Please reject it and go with option 4.

Yours sincerely,
