

Submission to TGS on Homeopathic medicine

As a consumer, I would prefer no change to the status and accessibility of Homeopathic medicine. This is a safe and effective medicine that has increasing evidence for its effectiveness and it complements mainstream medicine.

I would draw your attention to a wide range of international studies, but in particular the recent scientific discoveries including:

Adaptive network nanomedicine: an integrated model for homeopathic medicine

IR Bell, GE Schwartz - Front Biosci (Schol Ed), 2013 - academia.edu

You can read there about the nano-particles discovered under electron microscope. This proves that there are some “elements” of the original “medicine” but in a safe form, that has a gentle and therapeutic effect on the body, similar to a vaccine.

Yours faithfully

Jassen Rose
