TGA-initiated suspension or revocation

Why we suspend or revoke licences

We may suspend or revoke a licence for any of the reasons listed in section 41(1) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989. Where we propose to revoke or suspend a licence, other than at the request of the licence holder, we would issue a notice of intent to revoke or suspend, unless we consider there is imminent risk.

Imminent risk

If we consider there is imminent risk of death, serious illness or serious injury, we may immediately suspend or revoke a manufacturing licence without notice of intent, as prescribed in section 41(2) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989.

We may also take other regulatory actions depending on the nature of the risk.

Process

This section describes the typical process for how TGA initiates and actions the suspension or revocation of a manufacturing licence.

1: Notification of intent

When we intend to suspend or revoke a manufacturing licence, we will usually advise you in writing of our intention to suspend or revoke the manufacturing licence.

We are not required to issue a notice of intent if we consider there is an imminent risk of death, serious illness or serious injury, as prescribed in section 41(2) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989.

2: Delegate's decision

The Secretary's delegate will decide whether to suspend or revoke your manufacturing licence under subsection 41(1) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989, and will take into account any information submitted in response to our notification of intent before making a decision.

3: Publishing our decision

When we decide to suspend or revoke your manufacturing licence, we will:

- notify you of our decision
- publish the decision in the Gazette or on our website subsection 41(6) of the [Therapeutic Goods Act 1989].

4: Your ongoing obligations

If your manufacturing licence has been suspended or revoked:

- it becomes an offence to manufacture, supply or export a therapeutic good from the manufacturing site, in accordance with section 35(4) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989.

TGA initiated variations to your licensing conditions

We may impose new conditions, or vary or remove existing conditions of your licence, in accordance with section 40(2) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989. We will notify you of any such decision in writing.

In accordance with section 40(3) of the Therapeutic Goods Act 1989, any changes to conditions (whether to vary or remove conditions or impose new conditions) take effect:

- on the day the notice is given if there is an imminent risk of death, serious illness or injury
- on the day specified in the notice in any other case. This must be at least 28 days after notice is given unless the person has agreed to an earlier day.
